Executive summary

I AM Real Estate has a strong story: founded in 2017 by Gerardo "Jerry" Gonzalez and Hugo Gomez, active in buying, selling, flipping, wholesaling, joint ventures and property management, with about $8M in acquired properties cited on its own site and a team of at least six people.

Online, that story is split in two. iamrealestate.co (WordPress) presents "I Am Real Estate" with the founders, while iamrealestate.org (GoHighLevel) presents "IAM Investments" with a different leadership team, different phone numbers and a different message. Neither site shows a single active listing, review or closed deal.

The opportunity is to unify everything into one premium brand and one platform: immersive 3D home tours, an AI cash offer and net sheet tool, an investor deal analyzer, a bilingual assistant that routes each lead to the right department, and one CRM behind it all.

Key findings

CRITICAL Two websites, two brands, one company

iamrealestate.co says "I Am Real Estate" (founder Jerry Gonzalez, co-founder Hugo Gomez, phones 855-305-2048 and 915-268-1812). iamrealestate.org says "IAM Investments" (CEO Angeline Gomez, CMO Miguel Franco, three department phones). Both use 1522 Montana. A seller or investor cannot tell which is the real company, and Google splits authority between two domains.

CRITICAL Listings are empty

The Properties page on .co lists four addresses as links, but prices, photos, beds and baths do not render, and a "[WPL]" shortcode placeholder shows instead. The homepage section "Our Popular Homes" shows no homes.

HIGH Test and internal pages are public

HIGH No proof of results

Neither site has testimonials, reviews, case studies or before and after flips. Top local competitors lead with hundreds of reviews and verified sales history.

MEDIUM Contradicting claims and copy errors

.co claims "30+ years of combined experience" while the founder bio says six years. Typos ("Scrow", "preaproval"), an unfinished link ("Planning to purchase a home in"), an incomplete sentence on .org ("maximize returns effortlessly through.") and a footer address with no city or ZIP.

HIGH No conversion tools

.org routes every action to a single "book a call" page with no form. .co sends both "Free Home Valuation" and "Free Buyer Consultation" to the same Services page. There is no instant valuation, cash offer or deal calculator, which is what sellers and investors expect in 2026.

MEDIUM Compliance and trust signals

Texas license holders' websites are expected to link the TREC "Information About Brokerage Services" and "Consumer Protection Notice". We did not find them on either site. Public records show a team agent licensed under an Austin brokerage; brokerage identity should be clear on the site. Recommend verifying with the broker.

MEDIUM Weak sharing and SEO basics

The social preview image is a 125 by 125 favicon, menus repeat, multiple H1 tags are used, many images have no alt text, and a 27 item menu dilutes navigation.

04

Competitive landscape

Sellers who need speed compare cash buyers in minutes. Buyers expect photos, maps and virtual tours. Investors expect numbers.

Opendoor, HomeLight Simple Sale, Clever Offers, Houzeo	National platforms active in El Paso with instant cash offer flows that capture sellers online.
Local cash buyers (Border City Home Buyers, El Paso Cash Home Buyers, Level Cash Home Offers)	Simple landing pages built around one promise: a fair cash offer fast.
Top agent teams (example: The Jese Gonzalez Team)	500+ five star reviews and 720 total sales shown on Zillow. Review volume is their moat.
3D tours as standard	Industry data reports listings with 3D tours get about 87% more views, and a 2025 UT Dallas study found tours cut average days on market from 34 to 19.

What we propose: AI systems for I AM Real Estate

01

One brand, one platform

Merge .co and .org into a single "I AM Real Estate" site with clear paths: Buy, Sell, Invest, Manage, Rent. One phone hierarchy, one CRM, redirects from the old domain so no SEO is lost.

02

Immersive 3D home tours

Every listing gets a 3D tour (Matterport or Gaussian splat scan) inside the site, with a dollhouse view, room by room navigation, walk mode, measurements and virtual staging. Our demo includes a fully interactive 3D home to show the experience.

03

AI cash offer and net sheet

A seller enters address, size and condition and instantly sees two paths side by side: cash offer range vs listing with an agent, with fees, net amount and days to close. Every submission is a qualified seller lead.

04

Investor deal analyzer + JV portal

Calculator for purchase, rehab, ARV and financing with profit, ROI and the 70% rule, plus a joint venture application. Turns the "Invest With Us" promise into a tool.

05

Bilingual AI assistant

Answers 24/7 in English and Spanish, identifies whether the person wants to buy, sell, invest, rent or get management, and routes them to the right department number and pipeline.

06

Review and proof engine

Automatic review requests after each closing, a public "Recent deals" section with before and after flips, and video testimonials.
